Worldwide Evangelization for Christ

WEC is a family of more than 1,800 workers from over 50 nationalities, serving in multi-cultural teams among more than 90 of the least evangelized people groups. Our primary focus is to plant churches where there is no church.

Core values

Faith

We trust God to supply all we need to accomplish His plan for our lives and ministries despite opposition, difficulties and apparent impossibilities. This means total reliance on Him for the grace, power and resources we need to think, speak, live and serve.

Holiness

Our supreme aim is to please God in thought, word and deed through the enabling of the Holy Spirit. Holiness of life is required of those who would effectively witness to the Gospel.

Four Pillars of WEC

Sacrifice

The Holy Spirit enables us to willingly obey Jesus' call to mission and endure whatever hardships the journey puts in our path. Sacrifice means saying 'yes' to God in all things, without seeking unnecessary risks, yet ready to learn obedience through suffering.

Fellowship

Fellowship is our oneness in Christ. Our oneness in Christ makes it possible for us to live and work together in multicultural teams as brothers and sisters, maintaining the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace. We seek the mind of Christ together in decisions, and value mutual accountability and relationship over structure and authority.

Training with WEC

Distinctives

WEC runs 6 unique training centres around the world.

Multicultural

We desire to work in multicultural teams. Our workers come from five continents and more than 50 countries. For nearly half of us, English is not our first language. Diversity enlarges our teams' worldviews and reduces the danger of imposing our home cultures on the churches we plant.

Simple Lifestyle

We accept that to obey Jesus' call to mission means following Him on a journey that includes sacrificing earthly treasures that don't last for heavenly ones that do.

Team-Based Decision Making

WEC is structured to allow our field teams to make strategic decisions autonomously. We believe that when our teams get together to pray and wait on God the Holy Spirit will lead them in a spirit of fellowship and unity. This doesn't mean we all do our own thing. We're all accountable to WEC principles and practices.

Community-Based Training and Member Care

We're convinced that community is one of God's most powerful tools for transformation, and so we work hard to nurture authentic community as we train and care for our workers.

No Financial Appeals

God has led us to adopt a financial policy that gives visible evidence to His worthiness of our trust. Seeking first His kingdom, we communicate what God is up to in our lives without appealing for funds, and then trust Him to provide what He already knows we need.

MTC

WEC's colleges are committed to equipping God's people in order to plant churches amongst the least reached peoples of this world. WEC missionary training colleges go far beyond the normal theological institution. They emphasise holistic training for the whole person, promoting growth in every area of a trainee's life.

Relational

Who we are colours all we do. To be relevant in Christian work we have to grow as Christians. Residential living in community is planned to develop character and a Christlike lifestyle.

Knowing

Courses give a lot of time to reading and studying the Bible. Many other books on theology, exegesis and commentary will be studied but the Bible is the key resource. Both inductive Bible study and exegesis are foundational for faith. WEC colleges seek to provide knowledge that develops skill and character training for reaching people and planting churches.

Doing

Training takes place both in the classroom and in ministry opportunities. We provide hands on experience in sharing the good news with people of other cultures. This develops ministry for cross-cultural service, people skills, and teamwork.

- WEC Sending Bases or Mobilizers
- WEC Fields of service
- Prayerful Interest
- WEC not directly involved

Europe

Home of the Reformation and the modern missionary movement, the church in Europe is very much in decline. Church planting teams, along with a variety of supporting ministries exist in Albania, Belgium, Bulgaria, France, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland, Russia, Portugal, Spain and the U.K.

Asia

Church growth in Asia has exploded. Ever increasing numbers of Korean and Chinese background believers are represented in WEC. However, many countries are still extremely resistant to the gospel. Multicultural teams are spearheading advances into most of these least-reached areas.

Middle East

A longstanding witness has existed among numerous Middle Eastern peoples. Workers faithfully flesh out the gospel in a huge variety of business and professional contexts. Church planting remains the focus.

Africa

WEC is working alongside emerging national churches in Burkina Faso, Chad, Cote d' Ivoire, The Congo, Equatorial Guinea, Gambia, Ghana, Guinea, Liberia, Guinea Bissau, Senegal, South Africa and pioneering in several North African countries.

Pacific

While many established churches exist in this region, WEC is active in inspiring, mobilizing and training churches in crosscultural mission involvement. It is also modelling church planting in several locations that are home to unreached peoples.

Ministries

Ministries in WEC

WEC workers are engaged in many different styles of work, concentrating on planting churches, often in hard-to-reach places. The WEC missionaries usually work in teams which are in close contact with the unreached people groups with whom they work.
